Come with us in the OrientExpress!

European Youth - Common History and Future

The Orient Express is the symbol of the connection between lots of people and countries in the history of Europe and offers the basis for the program of the inter cultural & multilateral youth exchange "Come with us in the Orient Express! European Youth - Common History and Future". Through workshops, presentations and discussions and other tools of non-formal education, the participating young people will argue with the history of their nations and through common exchange of experiences they will analyze how they themselves live and manage their past. The meeting of young people from different origins will enable a comparison of the history reconditioning in each country. Consequently the young people in intensive group works will get to know if and in how far a common revision of their past is possible and ingenious. Based on it, the young people will also reflect their own behavior and observe how history can have an effect on the today's formation of opinion and also on social processes. This will be reinforced by visiting and discussing with representatives of political, cultural and youth institutions, from the administration, cultural and youth work and also from independent associations and institutions. Therefrom the young people will be stimulated to break down existing prejudices and stereotypes against other people, religions and language affiliations, in order to actively prevent on their own discrimination, bordering and racism in the today's society. The participants will develop activity concepts and instruments for the discussion on stereotypes and for the visualization and prevention of nationalism, populism and authoritarianism as a counter draft of the European democratic structures & multiculturalism among youth.
